WINNIPEG, Sept. 1.

Hon. Thos. White will return to Winnipeg from his Battleford trip on Friday.

A majority of 78 was rolled up against Gladstone's motion in the imperial commons concerning the proclamation of the land league.

A new fisheries commission has been appointed. The imperial government will be represented by Joseph Chamberlain and Canada by a member of the Canadian cabinet.

Hon. Alexander Mackenzie has returned to Winnipeg, having abandoned his trip to the coast. He has been visiting Winnipeg for a few days but will proceed east to-night.

The Hudson's Bay factors are in conference with a view to adopting arrangements for pushing trade in the extreme north, and generally to accommodate the operations of the company to modern conditions of affairs.

Sir Arthur Blackwood, secretary of the imperial post office department has passed through for the west to enquire into the question of the imperial subsidies to the C. P. R. Lord Herschel, Lord Lathom, Cairne, M. P., and many other prominent Englishmen are also visiting the country.

Practically nothing new in railroad agitation matters. Grading has been completed and no further trouble is expected until the track laying commences, which is expected to be within a few days. The intention had been to subpoena the C. P. R. magnates upon their connection with the injunction but they got away at four o'clock in the morning and evaded service. Legal matters will be discussed next Wednesday. Nerquay has been absent in New York raising funds and appears to have met some measure of success. A report that British troops would be sent to Manitoba has caused some stir in England and an official denial is given. The latest move of the C. P. R. authorities is to declare that a desire for annexation is at the bottom of the agitation in this province. This is done with a view of misleading eastern opinion.

BATTLEFORD, Sept. 2.

At the regular meeting of Battle lodge A. F. & A. M. No. 38 the following officers were installed, Bro. G. Applegarth, W. M., Bro. M. Richardson, S. W., Bro. J. Cotton, J. W., Bro. J. Clunkskill, treasurer, Bro. McCleneghan, secretary, Bro. F. Clarke, chaplain, Bro. J. F. Pritchard, S. D., Bro. H. Nash, J. D., with Bro. Sykes, Bro. Nash and Clarke as members of G. P. committee.

The Free Press of Aug. 22 and 23 contains an account of the injunction which did not stop work on the Red River Valley railway. River lots 365 and 367 in St. Agathe were owned by John Rowand and purchased by J. M. Browning of Montreal on behalf of the C. P. R. The lots are twenty chains in width and are crossed by the R. R. V. line. On Saturday Aug. 20 application was made on behalf of Browning before Judge Taylor for an injunction to prevent the grade from being made across the property. The injunction was granted against John Norquay, D. H. Wilson, Hugh Ryan, J. Haney and J. Strevil. On Saturday contractor Strevil put his force on to complete the grade across the property, backed in doing so by Constable Foster of the provincial police. While at work a telegraphic injunction was served on Strevil forbidding him to proceed under penalty of a $10,000 fine. He laughed and went on with the work. On Monday Rowand attempted to drive across the grade but was prevented by the watchmen. Constable Foster has been stationed at the place to prevent the grade from being interfered with, and attorney general Hamilton says that special constables will be sworn in to protect the work if necessary. The Toronto Globe, Mail, News and Telegram support the Manitobans in their action.

AD. MCPHERSON's two string teams arrived from Calgary on Friday with an assorted cargo of freight, including some for Brown & Curry, Norris & Carey, P. Daly & Co., D. Ross, L. Kelly, J. Looby and others. Each team had five span of horses on three wagons.

THE North-West reached Battleford on Wednesday, discharged her cargo there and returned down the river. A large part of her cargo was for Edmonton, chiefly for the H. B., and Indian department. Also 1 bbl. syrup for Brown & Curry, 1 box for St. Albert mission and 1 box for Thos. Anderson.

THE Durango Herald reports a new process of catching float gold, which seems to be exactly adapted to the Saskatchewan. Beef hides are stacked out at suitable places in the current, the hair side up stream so that the water will just skim over them. The gold floating in the water is caught in the hair and at the end of every two weeks the hides are taken up and burned and the gold panned out of the ashes.

THE establishment of the Indian agency offices at Sandy lake on Stony plain should induce the expenditure of government money in improving the road from Edmonton, which at present is not of the best. Considerable private labor and North-West government money has been spent on the end nearest town, for the benefit of the settlers of Long lake, the Miner's flat and vicinity, but a great deal more will be necessary if the department intends to haul the supplies required by the whole agency over it. The road follows as nearly as may be the 14th base line, and if improved so as to be passable with loads at all seasons, would give a shorter road to the settlement on Stony plain and the lumbering business of the Whitemud than the one at present followed, which is none too good in wet seasons.

ON Thursday afternoon a deputation comprising Dr. Wilson, M. N. W. C., chairman, M. McCauley, John Cameron, J. A. McDougall, C. H. Cannon, R. Strachan, C. L. Shaw, D. Ross, P. V. Gauvreau and A. D. Osborne, waited upon C. J. Brydges, land commissioner of the H. B. company with a view to securing his co-operation in the efforts being made to have the headquarters of the police force of the district located at Edmonton. Dr. Wilson introduced the members of the deputation severally to Mr. Brydges and stated the object of the interview. C. H. Cannon acted as spokesman and placed before Mr. Brydges at length the various grounds upon which the claims of Edmonton were based, laying stress upon the fact that only what were clearly rights were asked for. Mr. Brydges asked a number of questions bearing upon the case as to distances to various settlements, location of Indian reserves, etc., and was answered by the different members of the deputation best acquainted with the facts. He expressed himself as decidedly of the opinion that Edmonton was the proper place for the headquarters. He would at once communicate with the government on the subject, and draw their attention to the advantages of Edmonton. The immediate interests of the H. B. Co. in the matter were very considerable, owing to the large amount of land which they held in Edmonton and which would be increased in value by the location of the police headquarters near or on it. He would make the police authorities an offer of 30 to 50 acres of land on the H. B. property in town on most reasonable terms as an inducement to the location of the headquarters barracks here.

FRIGHTING to the Landing is about over for the season. The rate has been a cent and a half. From Calgary the rate is a cent and three-quarters.

CHAS. STEWART of Stewart & Bannerman is expected to arrive from Chipewyan within the next few days. Mr. Bannerman left for the Landing last week to meet him.

A POLICE detachment went north on Tuesday to arrest one Michel Courtoisville, brother of Mrs. Washey Joe of Rat lake, who is accused of killing an old Indian woman who had become a wehtigo last spring, at Lesser Slave lake.

ENTRY papers for the agricultural exhibition to be held on Oct. 20th are now ready for distribution on application. All entries must be made on entry papers, not later than 10 a. m. on the day of exhibition, but it is particularly requested that they be made not later than the day before.

OIL prospecting has been at a stand still for the past week or two owing partly to a break in the drill and partly to those employed being called away by their harvest. Before quitting a depth of 60 feet had been reached with excellent indications. On resuming work it is proposed to go down at least 200 feet.

C. J. BRYDGES, land commissioner of the H. B. Co., and party arrived from Battleford on Wednesday afternoon, having left there on Monday of the week before. M. Aldous, chief of the H. B. survey's department, and H. J. Macdonald, barrister, of Winnipeg and son of the premier, accompany Mr. Brydges. The party travelled between the Battle and Saskatchewan rivers, on an irregular course for the purpose of exploring the country as thoroughly as possible, to Ft. Saskatchewan where they crossed the river and came to Edmonton by the north side. Mr. Brydges is highly pleased with the country west of Battleford, and considers it better adapted for mixed farming than any other part of the territories he has seen. The party left for the south about 4 p. m. on Friday and are timed to reach Calgary on Wednesday next.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, SEPT. 3, 1887.

The Medicine Hat Times of last issue has a short article on Canada which has the right ring. Those who belittle Canada because it is not equal to the United States in population or wealth would cut down the twig because it is not a tree. Canada is not as great as the United States to-day, but it has within it the elements of a higher and better greatness.

The Montreal Star says that in the face of a fall in the price of raw cotton the manufacturers of Canada have taken advantage of the protective policy to increase their prices. It warns them that they are taking an advantage of the protective policy that the people won't stand. The manufacturers will doubtless ask in answer, if the national policy is not instituted to enable them to get better prices than they are really entitled to why does it exist?

The Winnipeg Sun says that the price of wheat in Manitoba this fall will probably be not more than 50 cts. a bushel, which is but very little above the cost of production, and in a bad season with a poor quality of wheat would mean an actual loss. From this it argues that it is "nothing short of insanity for a new comer to settle in the far west" where without any advantage of soil, climate or price of land the price of his wheat, owing to increased distance from market must be still lower. Looking at the matter in another light, how much short of insanity is it for a settler to engage in an industry which affords only a bare profit in a good year and in which up to the present time the bad years have equalled the good ones? Is the business of working for the wheat buyer, the railroad company, the machine agent and the land shark, as a majority of the wheat growers of Minnesota, Dakota and Manitoba are doing to-day so pleasant that others should engage in it, rather than come further west where the country is better suited for more profitable and less uncertain branches of the farming industry, which do not admit of the farmers being driven by the wheat buyer, the railroad company and the machine agent into the hands of the land shark.

An article appeared in the Lethbridge News lately to the effect that twelve families of desirable settlers had come in from Montana and settled on Lee's creek, Southern Alberta, also giving an account of the improvements actual and prospective being made by them. The item did not mention what now appears to be the fact, that they are Mormons and are likely to be followed by others. It also appears likely that a Mormon colony will settle near Medicine Hat. Some of the eastern papers object to the presence of the Mormons absolutely, while the MacLeod Gazette and Lethbridge News champion their cause, minus polygamy of course, and the Medicine Hat Times is neutral, provided they drop the objectionable practice. From other sources it appears that communications have passed between the Mormons and the Canadian government on the subject of settlement by disciples of that faith in the North-West. It must be acknowledged on behalf of the Mormons that they are sober, industrious and thrifty, and from their experience in rainless Utah are peculiarly fitted for settlement in parts of the Territories where the rainfall is frequently insufficient for ordinary agriculture. On the other hand it must be remembered that they belong to a sect in comparison with whose belief that of the Mahometans of Soudan, or of the Thugs of India is light and liberty. Their polygamy, to which such strong objections are raised, is one of the milder manifestations of their principles. In so much as their numbers are increased, by so much is the welfare of society and the safety of the state endangered. Mormonism is as essentially a treason as a religion. It is the height of folly to consider these people apart from their belief. For their religion they have taken to the desert. For it they exist. As settlers they are desirable; as Mormons most undesirable. With their religion, as a religion, the state has nothing to do. But as a conspiracy against society and a treason against constituted authority it has, or should have, everything to do. If these people choose to really sink their Mormonism in their citizenship, of course their presence cannot be objected to; but it is to be hoped that in any communication they may have had with the Canadian government they have been given to understand that this must be done in letter and in spirit if they would reside on Canadian soil.

THE H. B. ROUTE.

THAT Canada has reached its present state of wealth and prosperity must be due to the inherent advantages of country and the inherent industry and business capacity of the people. Certainly it is not due to the liberal spirit in which those who are supposed to guide its destinies or mould its opinions have expressed themselves. Whatever greatness it may achieve in the future must be in spite of a feeling that seems to be almost universal from the Atlantic to the Pacific, namely that the progress of each locality is dependant not on that of the rest, but on the misfortunes or drawbacks of the rest. When the small-pox was making havoc in Montreal the Toronto World made capital out of the fact for Toronto and congratulated itself that Montreal's supremacy was on the decline. When the province of Manitoba wished to secure railway competition the same patriotic journal together with the also very patriotic Hamilton Spectator, Montreal Gazette, Montreal Herald and others strain truth and common-sense to prove that the province is bankrupt and thereby prevent it from raising the necessary funds. But when the question of a Hudson Bay outlet for the North-West is touched is when the hue and cry becomes general. The advantages of such a route, if practicable, to Canada in general and the North-West in particular are admitted. Would it not be the part of those who trade so successfully on the patriotic cry to go as far as they could in encouraging the at least experimental development of that route? Would it not be at least fair when they assume to state known facts regarding it that they should state those favorable as well as those unfavorable? Because the trade which the H. B. route would develop—which can only exist by its adoption—would not find outlet by way of Montreal or Toronto the papers of these cities feel it to be their duty to prevent its adoption. Although they would benefit to some extent by the general development of the country consequent on the successful opening of the H. B. route, because they would not have the sole benefit they step at nothing to prevent its coming into use.

In a late issue the Montreal Star professes to give an editorial synopsis of Lieut. Gordon's last report, which it says evidently contains the plain unvarnished truth. The Star's first remark is that Lieut. Gordon was not started until June 24th because the minister knew it was no use. Then follows the particulars of his struggle with the ice up to July 26th when he entered the bay clear of ice. Then his remarks adverse to Port Nelson as a harbor. Then his remarks concerning the difficulty of working the compass in the straits and concluding with a few remarks of the Star's own entirely adverse to the route. The Star neglects to mention that in view of the feeling against the H. B. route held by eastern men who largely control the eastern vote it is a patent fact that Lieut. Gordon was sent, not to discover Hudson's straits navigable but to discover them unnavigable. Also that notwithstanding this his report shows that the straits are more safely navigable for ordinary vessels during at least August and September than the Straits of Belle Isle on the direct route from England to Montreal, on account of their being wider and less subject to fog. It may be remarked that two months would be ample time to allow the steam fleets at present traversing the ocean to remove any possible surplus of North-West wheat or other produce from H. B. ports. The Star also neglects to mention that Lieut. Gordon reports that vessels adapted to Arctic work could traverse the straits for at least three months. It forgets to mention in connection with the difficulty of navigating the straits that two or more H. B. vessels have passed through in each of the past 100 years and from two to seventeen United States whalers in each of the past forty years, the proportion of disasters having been no greater than elsewhere on the Atlantic coast. On the subject of harbors it neglects to mention that Lieut. Gordon reports concerning Churchill, that "The basin for anchorage with a depth of over four fathoms at low water is about 1,500 yards north and south by about 1,000 yards east and west; at two points leads of from 100 to 200 yards in width carry this depth up for a considerable distance further. —The holding ground is excellent—This harbor is an eminently safe one—The approaches to Churchill are well marked and in clear weather the land stands out clear and high, being easily identified at a distance of from ten to twelve miles. In thick weather the rule for making this harbor is to steer in W. b. S. keeping in 20 fathoms of water—This harbor is admirably suited for a railroad terminus. The necessary docks could be easily and cheaply built, and the deep water basin enlarged at small cost. Stone is lying at the water's edge ready to be laid into docks and piers, and nature seems to have left little to be done in order to make this a capacious port fit for doing a business of the greatest magnitude." Plainly if Lieut. Gordon's report contains the plain unvarnished truth the Star's editorial does not. The strangest part of the whole business is that Lieut. Gordon's report, and the Star in another issue agrees with him, that although the straits are not safely navigable and the season is very short United States whaling vessels have navigated them to such an extent for the past forty years, doing a most profitable trade the while, that they have pretty well cleared the bay of its wealth of whales and seals and that it is high time the government should protect them or they will be entirely destroyed. It will strike most people that if it is possible to carry whale products out of the bay so quickly and profitably wheat might also be carried out. And also that it has been a strange policy that has kept Canada blind to its own wealth in the bay until that wealth has been partially destroyed by foreigners. This seems to be running sectionalism into the ground.

POLICE REPORT, 1886.

Commissioner Herchmer reports the establishment of a complete line of outposts connected by patrols between the Manitoba boundary and the Rockies. The result has quite answered his expectations as horse stealing and smuggling have been to a great extent stopped. On the withdrawal of a party in September between Cypress and Lethbridge a party of South Piegans attempted to take advantage of it. Constant patrols have been carried on by all the divisions. A map is attached marked with patrol routes, to give an idea of the "enormous tract of country that has been frequently patrolled." The force, except G division, was well horsed. Only North-West, British Columbia and Oregon horses are to be used in the force for any purpose hereafter. These horses cost about $125 apiece. Horses have incomparably hard duties, having frequently to make 50 miles a day in pursuit of criminals. A number of horses were turned out for the winter to allow them to recruit their strength and to save forage. The forage expenditure had been reduced to the lowest point that the efficiency of the service would permit. Every effort had been made to do away with outside transport. The harness supplied, with the exception of that bought in the country from local dealers, had been of very good quality, but too heavy. He hoped that in future the police would be allowed to make halters and other small articles themselves. All imitations of the California saddle made in Canada are unsuitable. Good numnahs could not be procured in Canada, and should be got from the imperial cavalry service. The force is well supplied with seven and nine pounder guns, but machine guns would be more suitable, and one should be supplied to each division. Extra ammunition should be allowed the men at the lowest price, for target practice. Many of the men who joined in '85 were unsuited for the service, had to be invalided or deserted. Some escaped and some were recaptured, who after undergoing a term of imprisonment turned out very well indeed. Men wanted for the service were farmers' sons and men who had been a short time in the imperial service. There are a number of young men of good family and education, many of whom after a short service in which they get accustomed to the work are all that can be desired. The best and smartest men generally after one period of five years decline to re-engage. To induce them to remain a system of pensions is proposed. It is not possible to expect the very young men of the police to enforce the prohibitory laws. They require an example of older men with a future in the service before them. No constable should be kept in the force who requires dismissal for any offence. Men now receive two-thirds the price of the kit allowance that they do not use. Extra pay has been recommended to be granted artisans in the force, to do away with the necessity of having work done outside. The conduct of the men has been very good. The establishment of recreation rooms and assistance to bands is recommended. Owing to the present unsettled routes of various railways about to be constructed, it is not advisable to spend money on the erection of new barracks until we are satisfied where they will be permanently required, and for the present rented buildings and boarding houses must meet our requirements in winter and tents in summer. There is trouble in getting clothing large enough for the men of the force. A year's supply should always be kept at Regina. The establishment of tailors' shops at head-quarters will greatly improve the fit of the clothing and with that the appearance of the men. No more buffalo overcoats can be procured. A riding school has been established at Regina where Inspector Matthews instructs recruits in riding, and Supt. Gagnon in police duties. "The establishment of a small force of reliable detectives, already authorized, is urgently required, particularly if the North-West liquor laws are to be enforced. I am sorry to say that in the enforcement of this law the police receive very little real encouragement from the class of settlers who are loudest in their complaints of its evasion. If the settlers opposed to liquor do not care to take the responsibility and odium of laying information it is useless for them to complain that the police are not sufficiently zealous in this direction." Owing to want of competition and arrangements between traders beef is dearest where it should be cheapest. At Regina it is only seven cents, at MacLeod 10 cents and at Edmonton, Battleford and Prince Albert 12½¢ a pound. Hungarian patent process flour should be used and the baking done by the force. The system lately adopted of paying accounts at Regina works very well indeed and the establishment of a supply store at head-quarters will work admirably. At the same time the practice of purchasing at divisional head-quarters should be encouraged. It is the aim of the commissioner to purchase all forage and other supplies from the settlers at each post. Additional veterinary surgeons are required. Wells have recently been sunk at all the posts. Tanks and windmills should be erected at every post. A telegraph line from Edmonton to Calgary is badly needed. "I applied lately for a small and convenient printing press; this would save an enormous amount of writing, and enable us to, at all times, have a sufficient supply of forms on hand." Most of the desertions were of men in their first year of service. All the divisions in the west are in every way ready for any emergency that may arise. The health of the force has been good with the exception of an outbreak of fever at Battleford which resulted in five deaths. The Indian officials were escorted at the payments and a force was kept on the C. P. R. in British Columbia. Some of the finest men got into trouble and rather than face the consequences deserted. The mail was robbed twice and one robber secured. After the robbery the mails on the Saskatchewan routes were constantly escorted by police until the cold weather set in. Outposts had been established along the routes for the winter and patrolling would be resumed as soon as deemed advisable in the spring. The Indians are quiet and no trouble is likely to occur in the north. In the south as long as the Indians are mounted and armed there will be cause for uneasiness. The price of beef must come down. Oats were plentiful at Calgary and Edmonton and wheat was a good crop at Prince Albert. Too little fall plowing is done in the North-West, and the farmers will not draw manure from the police stables. Large game is disappearing, but hunters still make a good living by killing the fur bearing animals. Reports of the superintendents of the force and other officers follow.

The papers state that 150 Ute Indians of Colorado are on the warpath. That settlers are abandoning their homes and fleeing to the towns for protection in consequence, and that at least one town is practically in a state of siege. The story was the same when Geronimo broke loose in Arizona and Joseph in Montana. These localities are those chiefly infested by the legendary cowboy, who is such a holy terror, in newspaper columns, to all living things. Strange to say when the Indians are on the rampage we never hear of the cowboys. After the much abused United States soldier has succeeded in corralling the Indians stories of warlike exploits of cowboys are again in order. The fact appears to be that the United States newspaper correspondent is responsible for an imaginary cowboy, who no matter how picturesque a character he might be does not actually exist.

Herald, Battleford, Aug. 13: Telegraph hay is contracted for at $8 a ton. A hail storm last week covered one mile in width by eight in length, touching three or four farms. The French half-breeds at Batoche have organized a national society under the patronage of St. Joseph. The cylinder head on Lamoureux Bros. steam barge blew out which caused her to be laid up at Battleford. Chief Factor Clarke gives on behalf of the H. B. Co. a silver cup valued at $120 for competition at the Prince Albert agricultural exhibition, to be held on Sept. 29th. Mr. Hayter is at Prince Albert examining accounts connected with the election of last winter. Police barracks are not to be built this year. Gophers have injured crops considerably between the rivers.

The Regina Leader and Qu'Appelle Progress united in a late issue in devoting their scurrilous attention to the BULLETIN, the occasion being an alleged attack upon the lieutenant-governor. The reasoning which construed the BULLETIN article—dealing with the position of two certain churches on the Indian question—into such an attack resembles that of the swell who knew two friends were talking of him, "for they laughed consumedly." To mention the Indian department, in the eyes of these faithful spaniels, is an attack upon the Indian commissioner. The rivalry between them, which has been amusing their readers for some time past, is evidently as to which shall be constituted hizzoner's lickspittle in chief.

Goldwin Smith said recently in a speech at Selkirk, Manitoba, "The monuments of Sir John Macdonald's long rule as it seems to me, are likely to be a vast debt, a country becoming dearer to live in and a million Canadians on the other side of the line. His system has lowered the tone of public life in all its departments."

W. D. Perley, M. P.'s, speech to his constituents at Qu'Appelle does not find favor in the eyes of the Regina Leader. It thinks Mr. Perley takes too much credit to himself for the work done in parliament by the North-West representatives. There was so little done that it cannot matter much who did it.

Premier Norquay is reported as having said at Chicago that he would do all he could to prevent trouble, but that the R. R. V. road undertaken would be completed even at the point of the bayonet. If the federal authorities resisted there would be bloodshed.

On Aug. 19th the graders of the Red River Valley railway line cut through the C. P. R. Emerson loop line and connected with the Northern Pacific on the boundary.

GENERAL.

Mica prospects are agitating Calgary slightly.

Coal has been discovered at lake Dauphin, Manitoba.

Barley cutting commenced at Gleichen on Aug. 16th.

Reported that typhoid fever has broken out at Medicine Hat.

One hundred Mormon families are expected at Medicine Hat shortly.

Medicine Hat proposes to issue three thousand dollars of school debentures.

The Calgary board of trade has taken an interest in the placer diggings on Prairie creek.

The Regina Leader reports the failure of an attempt to tar and feather a wife beater in that town.

The Tribune complains that very little interest is taken in the approaching Calgary agricultural exhibition.

Calgary's rate of assessment is a cent for municipal and six mills for school purposes. The Protestant school gets $4,000 and the Catholic school $500.

Reported that the Rocky mountain locust has appeared at Beaver river settlement, forty miles from Saskatoon, and completely eaten up the crops there.

A two year old child of Thos. Pingle of Regina was lately lost for 72 hours in the Qu'Appelle valley north of Pense. It was found after a diligent search very little the worse.

The Winnipeg Commercial of Aug. 22nd says the heavy rains of a week or so ago have flooded low meadows in some parts of the province.

Alex. MacArthur, brother of Duncan MacArthur of the Commercial bank and of Peter MacArthur, steamboat man, died in Winnipeg on August 21st. Mr. MacArthur was an old time Winnipegger.

The North-West land company have at last agreed to pay their Regina taxes for the present year and acknowledge their liability for the future in consideration of their taxes over due being remitted.

Montreal Star: It will be noticed that the harvest in Manitoba is much earlier than it is in these parts of Canada. To have wheat harvested, threshed and ready for market in August is something unprecedented in Canada.

The Chicago Times says of these parties in the United States who desire commercial union with Canada: "They do not want more freedom of trade, but a larger area for the application of their contrivance for the enrichment of men engaged in the prosecution of pet industries."

Commenting on the report of Commissioner Herchner the Calgary Tribune says: "Unfortunately, the mounted police force generally speaking, not alone in the matter of infractions of the liquor law, but in all other kinds of offences, seem to wait upon information before they act."

W. D. Perley of East Assiniboia is the only one of the North-West M. P.'s who has seen fit to unburden himself to his constituents as to his course at the late session of parliament, regarding which the expectations were so great and the realizations so small. At a complimentary dinner given at Qu'Appelle on August 16th he delivered a speech in which he lengthily explained the course he had taken and the work he had done. The work, taking his own story for it, consisted in getting Chas. Marshall of Whitewood appointed sheriff of East Assiniboia in place of an Ontario man. By the way the displaced man was then shipped to Alberta. He had secured the grant of $10,000 to the North-West agricultural societies, and the location of the territorial experimental farm in East Assiniboia. He had assisted in getting the North-West school grant increased by $12,000, and that for roads and bridges by $5,000. Mr. Davin had introduced certain bills without consulting him. He, Perley, thought the government should have introduced the bills, and on interviewing Mr. White that gentleman told him they would have to be withdrawn. He seconded the bills but did not support them. He had secured the extension of the rights of second homesteading to those who had become entitled to patent before June 2nd '86. He had spoken against the heavy duty on agricultural implements. On the disallowance question he did not think it advisable to incur C. P. R. hostility to haul Winnipeg chestnuts out of the fire. He only interfered with North-West matters, leaving eastern matters to be attended to by eastern men. He realized the importance of his position as a North-West representative. He had determined that he would not interfere with eastern matters, but when North-West matters came up he intended to have something to say. He soon found that long speeches were not listened to and that he could do more by meeting the different cabinet ministers and urging the wants of his constituents privately than by making long speeches in parliament. He found Sir John very much more cordial than Mr. Blake.

The corn crop in the western states is an almost total failure owing to drouth. Farmers are selling off their hogs without fattening them, and orders have been received at Chicago and New York from corn growing districts for old corn.

The council of H. B. officers now being held in Winnipeg is attended by the chief factors of the trade districts from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the Arctic ocean to the boundary line. The company is preparing to enter upon a vigorous policy in all its departments.

The Calgary Tribune says that Shaw who was arrested for the murder of Swanston at Banff was released by the judge on the preliminary examination with these words: "Remember you are not acquitted of the charge; should we get more evidence you will be brought back here." It complains that this is not fair treatment to either the prisoner or the public.

A boom is reported at the Ile-d'Or-waet mines in the Selkirk east of Revelstoke on the C. P. R. in British Columbia. A strong company is working the mines which are situated several miles from the C. P. R., the ore being packed to the railway on mules and then shipped to the States for smelting. A town is springing up near the mines which is going ahead of Revelstoke.

The Calgary Tribune reports the finding of placer gold diggings on Prairie creek which joins Clearwater river about two miles above its junction with the North Saskatchewan at Rocky mountain house. Messrs. McVittie, B. M. Godsal, F. W. Padmore, John Sands, Baptiste Annas, Paul Fyaut and Joseph L'Hirondelle have prospected the locality and taken up claims, on Prairie creek about 25 miles from its mouth. They sunk a hole fourteen feet deep and found the prospect richer the further they went down, at the bottom being 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 to the pan. The inflow of water prevented their going deeper. It is proposed to organize a company to work the diggings. The trail from Calgary turns north-westerly from the Edmonton trail five miles south of Scarlett's.

An advertisement appearing in some of the territorial papers gives the terms upon which grants will be made by the department of agriculture to North-West agricultural society. The highest grant which will be paid to any society is $250, on a membership of 88 or a subscription of $43, and the lowest $150 on a membership of 50 with a subscription of $50. A statement giving the name, location, officers, members and subscriptions of the society certified to by a justice of the peace must be furnished the minister of agriculture not later than Sept. 1st. On these terms it would require 40 societies to absorb the appropriation. As there is at an outside estimate not more than 20 societies in the territories a grant of $5,000 would have met the case as well as $10,000 or $40,000. But then it would not have sounded so generous.

The following circular was received last mail by the secretary of the Edmonton agricultural society: "Regina, Aug. 12th, 1887. Sir—It is proposed the coming autumn to hold an agricultural convention at Regina to be composed of representatives from the various provisional districts comprising the North-West Territory. No definite plan has yet been formulated, it being considered advisable to leave this until there be appointed a properly authorized committee. It is in the meantime desirable that this call should be issued to ascertain what your society can do to further the project; how many delegates it can send whose expenses it will more or less bear, and how many who will pay their own expenses, and the date of the convention. So far the holding of such a convention has met with general favor. It is generally conceded that the present year is most suitable for such a convention, and that the benefits which will result from such a gathering will be very great indeed. Kindly bring the matter to the immediate attention of your society and reply at your earliest convenience, offering any suggestion that you may deem proper. We remain, yours respectfully, Daniel Mowat, chairman, Geo. B. Elliott, secretary."
